

Role card for the mock debate

Role card of an Italian politician

Information:

You are an Italian politician of an elderly age. You are a member of a right-wing nationalist party, which is convinced, that an Italian first policy should be the leading line when it comes to employment a high ranked position. Altogether we are of the opinion, that Italy was left alone by the European union and was and still is left alone with this crisis.

Character traits:

Your character resembles the nationalist movement of Italy and its counter European positions, and therefore is convinced, that mass migration has to be prohibited, since it takes away Italian jobs from Italian people.

Position in the debate and towards others:

You are supposed to act cold and concise while at the same time have a (passive-) aggressive attitude towards opposing opinions and refuse a deal without your main points and goals, while at the same time you try to act strategic so any acknowledgement towards your position is viewed as a success.

Goals:

Your goals can be found in the nationalist ambitions you want to embrace into the Italian policies. Italians should compete with refugees about the jobs in there home and therefore an Italian first policy is the ultimate goal for you and your party.
